LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Steady winter weather means cash to the livestock men.

—In the trial of the suit of Rev. H.W. Kuhns against Charles Banker and Julius Treilchke, in the circuit court, a verdict was brought in Wednesday for the defendant.

—The jury in the case of Cain vs. the city of Omaha on trial in the district court yesterday, brought a verdict for the plaintiff for $306. The claimant asked $2,100.

—The bricklayers are requested to attend the next regular meeting, Tuesday, January 24, 1923, for the election of officers.

—The electric light wires are already noticeable at their starting point, Farnam and Fifteenth. The light will be noticeable, too, when it gets started up.

—J. J. Bolander, of Odell, Gage county, was brought up by Deputy Marshal Culp Wednesday, on the charge of selling cigars without a license.

—Good goods and low prices is what is drawing such crowds at the Grand Union Tea Company's Store, 119 South Fifteenth street.

—Conductor Hackett, of the Columbus branch of the B. &amp; M. in Nebraska, was the recipient of an elegant nickel-plated lantern on Christmas day as a token of the esteem of his fellow employees on the line.

—Parties dear of us procuring bargains in fine furs, celluloid sets, odor cases, cigar sets, should go at once to Kuhn &amp; Co., where they can purchase anything in the holiday line at net cost.

—The frost Wednesday night transformed the telegraph and other wires about the city into ropes, which the sun yesterday turned to silver. The trees were dazzling and beautiful in a dress of the same, and all in all it was a model mid-winter morning.

—The handsome prizes to be given at the approaching prize ball by the Mannerer, are now on exhibition in the window of Mr. John Baumer's jewelry store. They consist of a silver butter dish, silver syrup pitcher, and silver napkin ring, the first, second and third prizes respectively.

—The friends of Charlie Little, the popular head bar-tender at the Paxton, united in presenting him Wednesday with a magnificent gold-headed ebony cane. It is a beauty, and a gift of which the recipient will always be proud. He is a number one man in every respect, and one whom his friends delight to honor.

—The case of the state vs. O'Connell and Mannweiler, charged with stealing $400 worth of hogs, the property of John O'Keefe, O'Connell's uncle, was set for yesterday afternoon.

—The Bee will, on Saturday, publish a list of those who expect to keep open house on New Year's day, and all desiring to have their names published in the list are requested to send in the notice as early as possible on Saturday.

—The case of the state vs. Maxwell and Harrington, charged with the theft of dry goods, etc., from various firms about the city, has fallen through, owing to the neglect of the defendants to appear and file a complaint against Harrington. Maxwell was discharged, but Harrington is held on the charge of retaining an officer.

—Donahue station, 10 miles north of Atchison on the A. &amp; N. division of the B. &amp; M., will be opened for business December 27, with John Y. Detweiler as agent.

—The Papillon Times says: "Mr. John M. Eby, at the expiration of his term as county commissioner in January, will enter into the agricultural implement business in Omaha, in partnership with Miller Steves, of Bellevue. The former has sold his farm to his brother, Henry Eby, who now has one of the finest tracts, comprising 350 acres, in eastern Sarpy county."

—Judge Benke was called upon Wednesday to tie the nuptial knot for Joseph Havlicek and Mary Hyscock, the ceremony taking place at the corner of Thirtieth and Williams. The groom is a member of the Bohemian band and quite a popular gentleman, and although it was intended to keep the affair private, some of his friends learned of the event, and after the wedding, which occurred at 9 o'clock, the happy couple were serenaded by the Bohemian Turner society.

—An execution was issued three or four days ago by Judge Benke against A. Bernstein, for the costs in the case recently brought by him in the police court. The officer yesterday served his papers, and was informed by the judgment defendant that he had no property to be levied upon. Judge Benke regarded this as too thin, and consequently, later in the day, issued a capias with the intention of putting Bernstein in jail and letting his attorneys try on the habeas corpus dodge if they wanted to.

—The German theatre troupe of this place are seeking to make arrangements with the German theatre club of Omaha to come to this place. This will be a rare treat to our citizens, for with this club is now playing Mademoiselle Ah-Pu, the celebrated German tragedienne. It is not yet known whether this arrangement can be brought about or not. The expense will be quite heavy, but it seems that some of our prominent German citizens are determined to bring it about. If they come it will be early in January. Mr. Fred Sonnenschein, who has just returned from Omaha, saw this troupe play, and pronounces it the finest he ever saw, and Fred lays claim to being a theatrical critic—West Point Republican.

—The officers of the South Omaha M. E. Sunday school desire to state to the parents of any of the scholars not remembered at the Christmas tree on Monday night last, that any unintentional overlooks will be provided for immediately on making the same known to their teacher next Sunday.

—The Denver train which left Omaha Tuesday night at 7:35 o'clock came near meeting with a terrible accident near Columbus. The train was speeding along at the rate of twenty-five or thirty miles an hour when suddenly a heavy bumping noise, accompanied by considerable jarring and a material decrease of the train's speed, notified the passengers that something had happened. The engine, No. 73, run by Theodore Livingston, had broken the rear axle of the tender, and but for the engineer's presence of mind in putting on the air brake and reversing the lever, an accident with a loss of life would probably have occurred. A freight engine at Columbus was sent for and the train proceeded on its way.

—Wednesday morning a badly run flatbed body was found on the Union Pacific railroad track near Lockwood, a station about 140 miles west of this city. It was picked up and taken to the station by some employees of the company. The body had been run over by three trains, the No. 5 freight, the regular western express, and by the Denver train. As a consequence there was not a piece of floor square to be found intact, but it had to be gathered up and deposited in a box. The clothing with which the man was clothed indicated that he had not been a tramp. No letters or anything to indicate his identity was found on him. It is supposed that he either was a farmer living in the vicinity or a passenger who had fallen from some train.

—B. B. Baldwin, J. W. Stewart, C. H. Danker, H. A. Nott, Wm. Koehler, Gustav Kalsner, and Wm. S. Cannon have filed articles of incorporation in the county clerk's office, of the "Roosevelt Elevator company of Elkhorn," whose place of business will be at Elkhorn station, Neb. The object of the association is to erect a grain and feed mill and grain elevator, and do a general business in that line, as well as buying and selling merchandise, manufactured articles, live stock and farm produce. The authorized capital stock is $25,000, in shares of $25 each, and the continuance of the corporation is to be for a period of fifty years. The business will be conducted by a board of five directors, to be elected by the stockholders, and who in turn elect a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, who hold their offices for a period of one year, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The indebtedness of the corporation is limited to $1,000.

STILL BOOMING.

The Dying Year Filled Up With Festivals,

Making Its Death Bed Scene Quite a Cheerful One.

The Sequel to the Chapter of Christmas News.

The Christmas festivals and rejoicings still continue with a scarcely perceptible abatement, every night witnessing half a dozen celebrations of some kind. It is liable to continue so for the next week at least.

THE KNIGHTS OF HONOR. Omaha Lodge, No. 829, gave their fifth annual banquet and ball at the hotel last evening, there being about one hundred couples in attendance. This order is quite strong in Omaha, the lodge named, including about 110 members. Mr. Thomas Falconer is dictator, D. S. M. Fretwell vice dictator, and N. J. Itiner assistant. Masonic hall was crowded, and with one of the pleasantest companies that ever assembled within its walls. The O. O. Howard program embraced eighteen numbers, and the banquet came in the middle, being served in the upper rooms attached to the hall. This committee in charge were as follows:

Floor managers, blue—Chas. Cheney, Thos. Falconer, A. J. Simpson, Chas. Midgely and D. S. M. Fretwell. Reception committee, red—T. Magrane, E. K. Long, Chas. Land, C. L. Fritschner, Samuel Reed and W. J. Kennedy. Committee on arrangements, white—C. J. Menter, J. H. Butler, Jos. B. West, D. S. M. Fretwell, C. R. Torrey, W. J. Kennedy, J. O. Corby, T. G. Magrane, Thos. Falconer, J. F. Sheely, Chas. Landrock and N. J. Itiner.

FIRST BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Christmas entertainment for the First Baptist Sunday school children took place last evening in the basement of the church, and was well attended. The room was filled with Sunday school scholars and teachers and a few visitors, a noticeable feature being the large proportion of very little folks. The exercises opened with songs and prayer, after which Rev. Mr. Savidge, of the First M. E. church, made the first address, being followed by the reading of the story of the birth of Christ, and the program continued with the singing of hymns and recitations. A number of very interesting recitations and declamations were given by little girls, who acquitted themselves most creditably, and deserved the applause they received. Among these were Misses Lulu Smith, Maud Kimball, Ida Funder, and Minnie Riley. At the conclusion of the program the church pews were thrown open and the classes one by one marched through and received a Christmas treat of cakes, nuts, candy, pop-corn, etc. The occasion was evidently much enjoyed by the children, and of course by the older ones who were pleased with their pleasure.

THE FIREMEN.

held their weekly holiday soiree last evening in Firemen's hall. These occasions are always enjoyable, and the one last night was no exception to the rule. They are well managed and sociable in character as well as in name. COMFORTING THE ORPHANS. The Christmas tree for the Catholic orphans was held in the old academy at St. Mary's yesterday morning. It was erected in the south parlor of the building. It was a magnificent specimen of the traditional holiday pine, nine feet high, with ample boughs, peculiarly adapted to the wishes of the managers "with happy burdens to bend." The tree was the donation of Mr. P. P. Shelby.

At an early hour the ladies of the decorating committee made their appearance, and after an hour's diligent application, during which the host of toys, decorations, fruits, edibles, presents and tapers were transferred to appropriate places on the willing branches, the tree was pronounced finished. Its appearance was most beautiful, and the little ones were brought in to enjoy it and partake of its bounties.

There are things that savor of novelty, which are not always attractive to children. To most children, however, the Christmas tree is not of that class. It certainly was not so to those little orphans. Forever excluded from those joys, the provision of which is so great a labor of love to kind fathers and mothers, these little children gazed upon the evergreen pyramid, transformed and beautiful as it was, with longing eyes and happy expectations, upon every feature. Nor were they slow to fasten their attention upon the toy or feature for which they most secretly longed. This in the nature of the case told tales to the ladies in attendance far more readily than could or did the little tongues, and led the ladies, in anticipation of the varied wants, to bestow the numerous and various gifts upon the expectant children. As a consequence the mute and diffident orphans of but a few moments before became, so to speak, imbued with the spirit of the occasion, and with infinite satisfaction, displayed not less of their instinctive knowledge of the different kinds of toys than they did for the purpose for which toothsome morsels have been discovered. About one hour was spent in the company of the children. By that time very many of the gifts had been disposed of and the exercises came to a close.

The ladies in attendance were Misses Ellen Sexton, Maggie O'Brien, Maggie Swift, Bell Henderson, Mrs. Fitzmorris, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Daley and Mrs. Hanneusey. Father English was also present, as were several other gentlemen.

Donations were received from the following ladies and gentlemen: and, as the names had to be sought after, and were obtained with difficulty, it is feared that some may be omitted. The list however is as perfect as it could be under the circumstances. Mrs. Gen. O'Brien, Mrs. Daley, Mrs. Little, Mrs. E. O. McShane, Mrs. Fitzmorris, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Marks, Mrs. Redick, Mrs. Swartzlander, Mrs.

Hennesey, Mrs. Mullen, Mrs. Meallo, Mrs. Petty, Misses Ellen Sexton, Maggie O'Brien, O'Brien, McCarthy, Brennen, Ray, Rev. J. E. Engle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper, John McShane, Henry Doherty, Feeney & Connelly, O'Donohue & Downey, W. M. Bushman, Henry Bushman, Wm. Gentlemen, P. P. Shelby, A. Bothge, T. Golden, T. Talon, T. Fitzmorris, John Murphy, E. O'Brien, J. A. Barth, McCarthy & Burke, and W. A. L. Gibbons.

The whole affair was a grand success. A considerable quantity of clothing and food was contributed by the above, besides some cash, which will be at the disposal of the sisters.

HOLY FAMILY CHRISTMAS JOYS.

The Christmas entertainment for the benefit of the school of the Holy Family was given in the basement of the church Wednesday evening. The attendance was large and the program consisted of 21 numbers, a large majority of which were choruses, sung by the girls of the schools. They were all excellently rendered. They were in every instance adapted to the ability of the children, and the result, pleasing as it was, was attained without noticeable or marred effort. The youthful vocalists were under the direction of Miss Marie Zimenez. The oratorical efforts were the "Salvator," by Charles Trudell, and the "Closing Address," by Master M. Hogan, both of which were short, racy and appropriate, and were also nicely delivered. The "Three Little Toad Stools," Misses Cosgrove, O'Reilly and Scher, were most warmly appreciated, proving a fine encore for a third call. Miss Halligan's recitation, "Grandpa's Whiskers," much shorter than the whiskers certainly, was another little feature that evoked popular demonstrations of approval. Miss Marie Deles and Miss Marie Zimenez, the former at the piano, and the latter at the violin, interpreted some of the more popular airs from "The Bohemian Girl," in an excellent manner, and richly deserved the appreciation with which the audience rewarded their effort. Miss Zimenez, it is believed, is the only lady violinist in our midst, and it is certainly to her credit that, besides being distinguished in this respect, she is also a skilled and competent performer on that favorite instrument. Miss McDermott's "Kitten" and Miss Gaudin's "Tom," the latter the most ambitious of the single pieces on the program, were well rendered.

"When I'm a Man," was the title of the dialogue, in which the concentrated ability of the young gentlemen of the school, was displayed, was certainly as highly enjoyable as any of the speakers were. It demonstrated that the young gentlemen, of whom there were nine, were not less worthy of their more favored sisters, of holding up their end of the representative line. Their piece was entertaining and amusing, and their rendition of it was characterized by energy and intelligence and ability, which made some people feel that the speakers were boys, and not the young men named E. Cannon, F. Reilly, C. Trudell, W. Fitzgerald, J. Gleason, H. Perkins, M. Scherb, C. Murphy, and W. Reed. A vocal duet, "Good Night," was sweetly sung by Misses Deles and Zimenez, and was followed by an instrumental duet, with Miss Eva McDermott at the piano, and Miss Zimenez at the violin. This piece was particularly remarkable for the accompaniment of the little lady first mentioned. It was her first appearance on even a school stage, and yet the lack of that embarrassment, peculiar to such occasions, was not less remarkable than the skill and brilliancy with which the little lady followed the artist who played the violin. At intervals through the programme the children of "The children of today," a farce comprising a cast of about thirty girls, were rendered. The piece was a simple satire upon the customs of society, which set aside sense and reason and substituted sham and nothingness. It was well enacted. The entertainment was a success, financially and otherwise, and was a cheerful compliment to Mr. Hillman, by whom it was managed.

HOLIDAY HOT.

The Sans Ceremonie club, organized three years ago, gave a very charming and enjoyable holiday party at the Millard hotel Wednesday evening. The club is limited in membership to twenty-six and no married persons are admitted. It gives parties once a month, and has chosen the Millard as permanent headquarters.

On Wednesday evening, as usual, the parlors, dining hall and ordinary were occupied by the club and their guests, between fifty and sixty in all. The dining room was devoted to dancing, the music for which was furnished by the Municipal Orchestra. In the ladies ordinary a long table was set, fifty-four plates being laid and there at 10:15 the party sat down to the most elegant feast ever spread at this popular cavernousity. The table was elaborately trimmed and the variety and character of the menu was equally fine. Among those present were, noted Messrs. D. W. Bore, E. Barker, Arthur Sax, Touey, O'Connor, Wilber, Darling, Denel, Johnson, Morgan, Johnson, Beach, Tom Kimball, Wells, Barkley, Muir, Hills, Sharpe and McCormick, and the Misses Touzalin, the Misses Morgan, the Misses Barton, the Misses Sharpe and Misses Lake, Lyons, Jones, Kimball, Reed, Spill, S. S. Chambers, J. J. McNeill, Wilber, Oostekot and Clarke.

The club is at present officered as follows: Will Millard, president; Will Bennett, vice-president; D. W. Sax, secretary and treasurer, and Millard, Bennett, Sax, Beach and Denel, executive committee. The parties are counted among the pleasantest of the season.

AT BOYD'S TO-NIGHT. The first half of the theatrical season of 1892-3 will end with the entertainments at Boyd's Opera house to-night and Saturday night. The past four months has seen our amusement loving people gratified as they never were before by the number and excellence of the companies visiting the city. The last two nights of the year will be taken up by Boyd's with the presentation of Elliott Barnes' latest drama, "One Woman's Life," Miss Bartha Wiley appearing in the star title role, supported by a first-class company. Of this great emotional actress The Rochester Post says: "One Woman's Life," the play in which Miss Wiley has begun her starring tour, is written by Elliott Barnes, the author of "Only a Farmer's Daughter," and contains many of the characteristics of that drama. The author has thrown in not a few startling as well as humorous incidents, and the role of Agnes, assumed by Miss Wiley, contains many opportunities for the display of the emotional strength in which she excels. She has, moreover, a fine stage presence, and her dresses were pronounced marvelous by the ladies. At the conclusion of the third act she called before the curtain. Those among the company who deserve special praise are Robert P. Gale, who provides much of the comedy which relieves the darker scenes; and John D. Walsh, who acted the part of a villainous tramp with striking effect.

FIRE KING.

The New Hose Carriage Arrives and Goes Into Commission.

The New House Will be Occupied To-day.

The long-looked-for hose cart ordered some time ago for Fire King Hose company No. 2, arrived Wednesday from Chicago, via the C. & B. Q. and B. & M. routes. Yesterday it was hitched up and drawn up to No. 3's house, on Sixteenth street, where a thousand feet of hose was put on the reel. The next thing in order was

WEIGHING THE CURTAIN.

It was found to weigh, with the hose and four men, 4,675 pounds; with the hose alone, 4,000 pounds; without hose or men, 2,600 pounds. The ordinary one-horse hose cart weighs 3,000 pounds with the hose, so it will be seen that the strain on the two horses is much less. Being a four-wheeled cart, the chief engineer informs us that it will run at least fifty per cent., easier than the old cart, relieving the horses of the unequal strain on their backs when running to a fire. The new cart was then taken down to

THE NEW HOUSE.

on Tenth street, back of Strang's block, attracting much admiration from all who saw it. No. 2's future headquarters are nearly finished, and are as cozy, neat and comfortable as could be desired. The furniture was all in at noon yesterday, the telephone and gong in working order, and when the crew goes in, which will be to-day, everything will be ready for business. As the public will be largely interested in this improvement of our fire department, it is likely that Chief Butler will give at which all may have an opportunity to call and receive a glass of champagne. It had been intended to give a grand opening or house warming, but this is thought to be more appropriate. As the hose cart stands in the new brick it is a beauty sure and, the chief informs us, is the finest ever sent out of Chicago.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE.

The frame is of the best hammered iron, three-quarter by three and a half inch, with a steel axle and brass hub bars and caps, with roller on the rear of the frame, flanked by two brass torches. The driver's seat is cushioned and calculated to carry three men, and a splendid reflecting brass lamp is fixed at each side. The front of the foot board is adorned with a fifteen inch brass gong. The cart is for the hose, with a brass hook for the reel and the gong, are all operated by the driver's foot. The big hose reel, with capacity for 1,000 feet of hose, is built with spokes and frame of gas pipe and with solid sheet iron sides. The platform from behind the reel will carry three men, and within reach are the brackets for two nozzles, fire axes, steel core bars, etc.

THE PAINTING.

is artistic and shows up fine. The wheels are of oak, left the natural color, with spokes and fellows striped with a narrow gold band, edged with vermilion; the running gear and frame work are bright vermilion, striped with gold band, and edged with black; reel axis deep blue, with gold scroll work; the lettering "Fire King Hose Co. No. 2" is in gold on the vermilion ground work, shaded deeply with the same. In short the cart must be seen to be appreciated. Its cost was $750 and it was made by E. B. Preston & Co., fire department apparatus manufacturers, of Chicago, who put in their very best ticks on the job. Not only the boys and men, but the entire fire department and citizens generally will be proud of this latest acquisition.

A GOOD DOG.

How a Canine Found a Lost Pocket Book.

Many stories are continually told of the wonderful sagacity and instinct of dogs, particularly the St. Bernard and New Foundland breeds. Yesterday Mr. E. J. Woolley advertised in the Bee that he had a pocket book in his possession containing money which the owner could have by identifying it. Mr. Woolley lives No. 2,618 Cummings street, and is the owner of a well trained St. Bernard dog. The animal is in the habit of finding THE EVENING BEE in the yard and taking it in to his master. Upon the faithful performance of this duty depended his supper, and the dog if he is unable to come across the paper, does not scratch at the door for admittance until he has something which his canine mind will warrant him in demanding his evening repast. Tuesday night he was let out, and was gone longer than usual. Finally his paw were heard scratching on the door and he was let in. In his mouth he held, not the paper, but a small leather pocket book, which he gave to his master. He had found it in the snow some distance from Mr. Woolley's house. This morning, in answer to the notice in THE BEE, a note from Howard Rank, who lives at No. 905 Montana street, in which a description of the purse and the contents, amounting to $21.85 was given. Mr. Rank was restored his property, and he thanked Mr. Woolley, who told him that the dog and not himself deserved the credit of finding it.
